If I see one more person today say that it's 'too late' tomorrow do anything about climate change is will scream.

Too late for WHAT exactly?

If you're saying it's too late, you don't understand how this works. Climate change is not linear. The collapse of civilisation is /1 not something that just happens at a particular level of warming. This is not an all or nothing deal.

Is it 'too late' to save everything? Yes, some things are already gone.

Is it too late to save coral reefs? Possibly, but we won't know until we try.

are massive and complex and we simply don't know exactly how warming will play out.

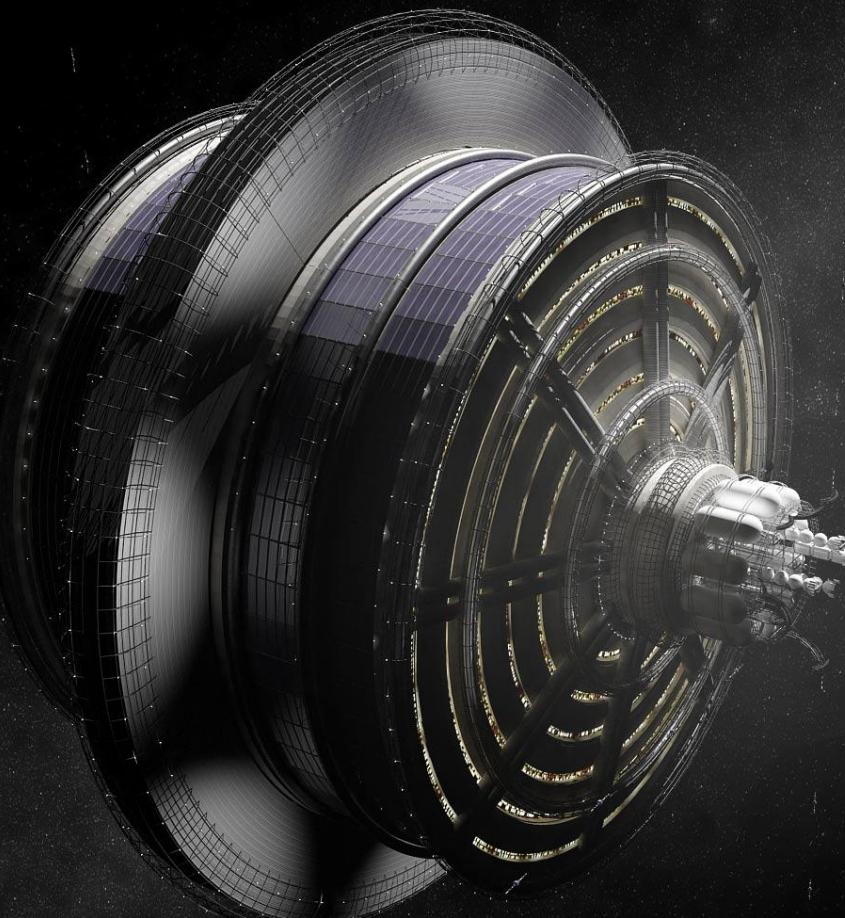

We also don't know how humanity will respond and what we'll come up with in later years to deal with this. It is FAR too early, both scientifically and morally, to declare that it's too late. /3

Rapid, global action is required.

Local-only solutions for climate are difficult and/or impossible.

Current political pattern: inaction until crisis.

The climate crisis is already here — it's just unevenly distributed.

Use and develop 'convivial tools'

Organize at sites of crisis

Facilitate collaborations between high- and low-capacity communities

Communication & Cooperation

Tools foster conviviality to the extent that they can easily be used, by anybody, as often or as seldom as desired, for the accomplishment of a purpose chosen by the user. The use of such tools by one person does not restrain another from using them equally. They do not require previous certification of the user. Their existence does not impose any obligation to use them. They allow the user to express [their] meaning in action.

An aerial photograph of a rural landscape. In the foreground, there's a mix of green fields, some with crops and others with sparse vegetation. A few small buildings with red roofs are scattered across the land. In the middle ground, a large, modern building with a long, low profile and a reddish-brown roof stands prominently. The background features a range of mountains under a clear blue sky.
